OUR HEROES' CONDUCT OF TWO SOLDIERS.—Two hundred soldiers visited the First Ward Female School this morning, drew their pistols in the presence of the pupils, and drove them from the apartment in which the school is taught, in the Shely street M. E. Church. They went away for a time, but not satisfied with that exploit they returned again and conducted themselves in a more outrageous manner than even upon the occasion of their first visit. The watchmen of the ward were called, but not in time to arrest the scoundrels.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Thursday, February 26.—Henry Evans and Pat Gleason, stealing clothing from Thos. Flinn. Contained until to-morrow.

Com'd by Cornelius Murphy vs. Wm. C. Price, peace warrant. Bail in $200 for three months.

On Friday last S. S. Wilson, the Treasurer of Scioto county, Ohio, resigned his office and eloped with another man's wife, leaving his own behind. Strange to say, he left the business of the office in a satisfactory condition, taking none of the funds belonging to the county.

The clothing alluded to which was stolen by a negro woman, who was arrested yesterday by officer Junes, was taken from the residence of James J. Dozier, Esq., and not from that of Gen. Rousseau.

The amendment to the game law in Indians permits the shooting or trapping of quail and pheasants between the 1st of October and the 1st of February.

The steamer Lady Pike arrived at this city to-day with the remains of the late Mat. Ward.

One item of the Lady Pike's freight, which arrived from Memphis to-day, was six hundred bales of cotton.

SEVERAL weeks since the House of Representatives passed a resolution requesting information from the Secretary of the Treasury as regards the amount expended since the commencement of the rebellion in the maintenance and sustenance of sloths in the loyal States and to what extent such expenses will be compensated by their service. Mr. Chase has requested to receive and collect the products of the soil and other property found or brought within the districts occupied by our forces, and the personal property of loyal citizens falling into the care of the Government, to insure economy in gathering and sending to market cotton and other property found in captured plantations, and to secure the largest amount possible for sale to both private and public interests. All such property was consigned to Collector Barney, of New York, published for public sale, expenses paid from the proceeds, and the amount received from the sale of the same to the benefit of the Treasury, for collection or sale of cotton or its equivalent, or for the hire, subsistence, educational, or benevolent care of laborers, except that some transportation and rations are furnished by the War Department, and agents, superintendents, and laborers on the plantations, which advances were partially if not wholly compensated by benefit to the military service from the use of the land and from services rendered and employed. In closing his reply Senator Chase takes occasion to rectify false impressions, industriously circulated, that the collection of cotton and the care of plantations are the work of the Sec. of State and Sec. of War. He has been attended with great credit to the Government. On the contrary, a half million of dollars is now in the hands of the Assistant Treasurer at New York awaiting claims.

COST of War.—From 1863 to 1862, England was for nearly the half century—sixty years—a great drain upon the Spanish treasury, as the light drain of large sums was, as was required, to extract cotton from plantations. From the reply of the rebel Secretary of the Treasury shows the falsity of these boasts, for he puts the whole case in direct opposition to the facts.

Comments that yields but a little more than half a million of dollars revenue for nearly a year cannot be extensive. This fact proves the blockade too a little strict for the rebels' comfort and necessities.

Decisions Concerning Steam Engines.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that a marine engine which is built into and forms parts of a steamboat, steamship, or vessel propelled by steam, is not subject to tax under the excise law. Yet articles may be used in the structure thereof which have a distinct commercial character, such as pipes, valves, fittings, &c., which are not subject to tax. The builder of a marine engine is himself the manufacturer of an article used in the structure of the engine—as, for instance, a steam pump or copper pipe—he becomes liable as a manufacturer to pay the tax on high article whenever it is removed for sale or consumption.

Facts Against Fancy.—The rebels have been boasting of the number of vessels which have been captured, and even Mr. Madison put a number so high as four thousand. The report of the rebel Secretary of the Treasury shows the falsity of these boasts, for he puts the whole case in direct opposition to the facts.

The District of Columbia.—Major-General Davidson, commanding the Department of the District of Columbia, has published an order, stating that the Army of Southeastern Missouri being now within the District of St. Louis, General J. W. Davidson will assume command of the Department of the District of Columbia, and report to General Davidson. Another order from General Davidson announces his staff and his assumption of the duties of the command. General Carr has been in command of the District of St. Louis for some months.

More Bushwhackers.—A lot of ten or a dozen prisoners arrived yesterday morning by train, and were committed to the Atheneum. They are all rebels who had been captured by rebel soldiers, and so forth. Some of them have been in jail at Charleston, Kanawha, for a considerable period.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

Edwin Booth, the tragedian, closed an engagement at the Winter Garden, in New York, last week, on account of the death of his son in Boston. She was formerly known as Mrs. Booth, and had been a favorite during her brief dramatic career, earned an enviable reputation as a fine actress and an irreconcileable lady. When Mr. Booth and his wife moved to Canada, she accompanied them to her native country, to complete her education. She remained there about a year, and upon leaving the country was married, since which time she has not appeared on the stage. To her husband she was no less an inviolate companion and friend than a fond companion redeeming him from many trials which otherwise might have brought him to infamy and disgrace. Her name is to be given to the new conservatory which is to be erected in Boston, in honor of her. Mr. Booth appreciated all this, and repaid it with all the affection possible to his ardent nature.

New York, Feb. 26.—Atter's despatch says Gen. Hooker arrested three rebels and had them tried by court martial, which caused them to be shot. It is believed that he will inexorably enforce the sentence.

A plan has been submitted to the Military Board of the State of New York, for the raising of regiments in the field or for filling them up to the maximum and keeping them full from troops to be raised under the new conscription law. It gives the President power to muster out of the service, where a considerable number leave without command, always discriminating in favor of those oldest in the field and most noted for services and ability.
